The Origins of Capitalist Civilization

Early Trade and Mercantilism

The roots of capitalist civilization can be traced back to ancient civilizations such as Mesopotamia, Egypt, Greece, and Rome, where trade and commerce laid the groundwork for economic exchange. However, the more recognizable form of capitalism began to emerge during the late Middle Ages and the Renaissance period, driven by:

- Merchant trading: The rise of merchant classes engaged in cross-border trade, especially in commodities like spices, silk, and precious metals.
- Banking innovations: The development of banking institutions and financial instruments facilitated larger-scale commerce.
- Mercantilism: This economic policy emphasized state control over trade, accumulation of wealth through exports, and colonial expansion, laying the groundwork for capitalist enterprise.

The Commercial Revolution and Early Capitalism

Between the 15th and 17th centuries, Europe experienced the Commercial Revolution, which marked a significant shift toward capitalist practices:

- The establishment of joint-stock companies like the Dutch East India Company.
- Expansion of global trade networks.
- Increased urbanization and the rise of market towns.
- The development of banking and credit systems.
